The customer is the boss

By ZEEV SAHAR Moderator of the Poll The saying goes, that the boss is not always right, but he is always not always right, but he is always the boss. The same may be said about the customer. He is not always right, but he is always the boss, who decides what and where to buy for his money.

The many products offered for sale are manufactured by experts. But it is impossible for the customer to be an expert on everything he needs. He can't have at the same time as expert opinion on, say, textlie machinery, food and furniture. furniture.

How then can the customer be sure that he has bought the right thing and has got his money's work?

Te public apinion polls come to his aid. Competitions, with a panel of judges to decide, make things of judges to decide, make things easier for the customer. Competitions for the best package design, for instance, are regularly organized. Government institutes check the quality and the standard of products. But this is not enough. It is not always the best product which is wrapped in a nice package; quality products sometimes come in very simple packages.

The Most Preferred Product Poll, organized by "Tediot Abrocost" in organized by "Tediot Ahronot" in cooperation with our office, tries to check the popularity and the ad-vertising of enterprises in another, shorter way. Once a year we ask the customer a short, direct ques-tion. Thousands of answers from people of all levels of society and people of all levels of society and throughout the country, selected scientifically, are sorted out by a special staff, and the title is awarded to the product which receives the majority of the votes.

There is no doubt that the public benefits from the selection of a certain product. The producer wants to tain product. The producer wants to be worthy of this honour and will try to improve his product and his services still more. The title is also a challengs to his competitors, who will try to win it in the future.

The Poll does not declare that products which were not awarded the title are not good, but only that the interviewed persons think that the winner is better. It is interesting to mention here an advertising capaign by a well-known car hire company in the U.S. (with a branch in Israel), which declared in its advertisements to be only the second company in its field, but that it intended to be number one in due course, and therefore tried harder to satisfy the customer. From this ad it could be concluded that the No. 1 company, better known and with three times as many vehicles, was already sure of its fame, and there-fore, maybe, "tried less." This advertisement influenced its readers greatly and the company increased its business by 28 per cent. The publication of the results of the Poll may have unbelieveable results for the selected manufacturer, if he knows to exploit it, and re-minds the public at every oppor-tunity and in all his ads of its selection, not to mention a special advertising campaign on the occasion of his selection,

A short notice to his customers is of course, very important. But if the first 10 words do not make the necessary contact with the customer, the next 100 words won't be much

Not without satisfaction and pride we may conclude that this year's Poll for the title of Most Preferred Product has greatly contributed to the improvement of products and services in Israel. The Poll helped the customer to receive his money's worth, and awarded the title to the manufacturers deserving it.

THE POLL

among the leaders in its field throughout the world. The subjects researched by the Institute in 1971 give a reliable picture of Israel society and economy, HOW WAS THE POLL CARRIED

OUT The Most Preferred Product Polliss aimed at establishing the most popular products, services and businesses in the opinion of the adult, urban Jewish population. The Poll does not try to find out why certain products are preferred, or whether the preferred product is actually being used by the public.

The questionnaire lists about 112 tems, among them: food, cleaning agents, general services, local services, etc. The interviewed has to state the name of the pre-ferred product or service without any guidance whatsoever from the interviewer. A total of 1,505 persons were interviewed, chosen according to a statistical sample system. They represent the Jewish population over 20 years old in Jeruhalem, Tel Aviv-Yafo, Haifa and Beersheba, 58% of the urban Jew-sh population. The work of the interviewers was checked. The field work was supervised by local inspectors and In-stitute assistants. The collected material was marked and checked by a special staff at the Institute, and transferred to punch cards. A special machine verified the cards, and an electronic computer analysed the eards' data. The final classification of the preferred products and enterorises was made on the basis of the umber of votes.

Bar-Lev enters the Cabinet

Ha'aretz (non-party), discussing Haim Bar-Lev's cooption to the Cabinet, says that Bar-Lev will hopefully institute a feeling of stability in the staff of the Ministry of Commerce and Industry and raise their morals, "It is to be hoped that he will study carefully hoped that he will study carefully this new sphere of activities over which he is appointed."

Hatzofe (National Religious) is critical of "the creation of a dengerous precedent whereby every senior commander in the Israel Defence Forces would assume a ministerial mantie upon conclusion of his military tour of duty, without a 'cooling off' period of a year

Al Hamishmar (Mapam), discuss ing Sadat's forthcoming visit of several Arab countries, says: "Sa-dat's tour is likely to aggravate tensions or to have a soothing effect on tempers ... We hope he will not atempt to revive the socalled "eastern front," but will counsel Syria and Lebanon to exercise restraint."

The connection with the title is not only unconvincing but rather annoying.

On the other hand, I simply could not make out what induced composer Abel Ehrlich to link the to his piece for Oboe Solo. A Prayer requires a certain middle period piece. Though not among Ravel's best works, it served as mitigating factor in this arbitrarily composed programme. It has flow, atmosphere, contrasts, musical developments and climaxes and the Yuval Trio did its best to make this a fine performance. in general, presentations were on a high level, though it seemed a complete waste to bring two harpsichords along for the rather allly piece of Telemann, and the shuffling around of the various instruments on the stage was like a turn from a Purim party.

Improbable thriller

SANS MOBILE APPARENT (Hod. Tel Aviv), veguely based on Ed McBain's thriller "10+1," concerns a series of murders in Nice committed without apparent motive. They all have one point in common the death-dealing bullets are in charge of the case is Inspector Carella (Jean-Louis Trintignant), himself a crack shot and constantly shown washing his hands. He makes little headway until he comes into possession of a notebook belonging to one of the murdered men which contains a number of addresses.

There are loss of improbabilities in the story and red herrings are strown plentifully along the way while the acting is not more than adequate. But it is sufficiently exciting to hold attention and the sun-bleached background of the Cote d'Azur is lovely to look at. Singing star Sacha Distel appears as a TV reporter, and writer Erich Segal makes a brief and quite effective appearance as an astrologer. The lovely ladies include Dominique Sanda and Stephane Audran. Directed by Philippe Lubro.

Old style drama just plods along

CONNECTING BOOMS (Gat, Tel Aviv) is an old-fashioned romantic drama in a contemporary setting with Bette Davis and Michae Redgrave, both of whom started their film careers about 45 years ago, in the principal roles.

The connecting rooms are situated in a shabby London boarding house, One is occupied by Miss Fleming, an elderly callet who says she is with the London Philharmonic and the other by James Wallraven, a harassed, unhappy man who says he is a Devenahire schoolmaster come to do research ut the British Museum. Then there is Mickey, another boarder (Alexis Kanner), young, aspiring songwriter with whom Miss Fleming is much taken and who sponges on her.

Injured in a student riot, Wallraven is nursed by Miss Fleming and, guilty secrets having been revealed on both sides, it is no surprise to see the two wandering off arm in arm into the night.

This is a film whose success depends on the characterization and Franklin Gollings, who directed in a plodding manner as well as providing the acreenplay only skimmed the surface with the resuit that none of the personages is convincing. Miss Davis' acting is terribly mannered and while Redgrave is more natural, the for do not ring true,

TRAINING INDUSTRIAL ENGINEERS

To the Editor of The Laresteen Post Sir, - I was astonished to read Professor Fish's comments concerning the training of industrial enginers at the Technion, published in your March 1 edition. According to Professor Fish who is making his first visit to Israel in over ten years, our Faculty "concentrates on advanced techniques of operations research, with a lot of mathematics thrown in - perhaps more useful to large enterprises than small... : while there are also less elaborate techniques which still need to be pursued and taught."

Professor Fish, as an expert on productivity, violates a basic law of his profession by drawing his erroneous information. As a matter of fact our programme extensively includes those topics which Professor Fish believes need to be pursued and taught. Had Professor Fish taken the time to visit us, see our laboratories and workshops and study our actual curriculum, he would un-doubtedly have reached different conclusions.

GARAGE ASSOCIATION MEMBERSHIP

To the Editor of The Jerusalem Post Sir - In a report on the annual road test for cars (February 16) the spokesman of the Ministry of Transport states that only 600 out of 2,500 garages in the country are members of the Israel Garage Association. In order to put the record straight let me state that there are 2,236 fully fledged members in our Association in all parts of the country. T. PICK, Secretary

Israel Garage Association Tel Aviv, February 27.

WHO KNOWS GENERAL JACOB?

In the Editor of The Jerusalem Post Sir, - It would be interesting to know more about the career, persometity and political standing of General Jacob, the Jewish General who attained the position of chief of staff of the Indian Eastern Command during the Indo-Pakistan war. Perhaps one of your readers could let us have General Jacob's story.

Dr. RUDOLF GOTTSCHALK Haifa February 27.

MODERN MUSIC MORE POPULAR

To the Editor of The Jerusalem Post Sir, - In your issue of February 23, Mr. Frederik Powell of Sidney (Australia) expressed the opinion that our public was too phiegmatic in its appreciation of Ehrlich's compositions

The Israel public has so far generally been unreceptive to modern music, but during the last two years its feeling has become somewhat less conservative, especially under changes of mood the script calls the influence of our marvellous Mr. S.W. Mehta. During the past weeks we wice joined the enthusiastic applau which our public has given to two works, "The Concert" by Avraham Daus, and Mr. Benzion Orgad's "Ballad."

I therefore think that Mr. Powell's remarks are not justified R. BRAMMER

Sixty per cent of the public favour keeping shops, especially grocery stores, open till 8 or 9 p.m. at least one day a week. This came out in a consumers poll about shop opening and closing hours conducted for the Ministry of Commerce and Industry

The Ministry ordered the survey after it became clear to them that very many people work split shifts and are unable to do their shopping after they finish work. In addition to complaints from the public about this situation, the merchants associations also applied to the Ministry to set fixed shop hours. At present there is no fixed national opening and closing times, and each municipality and local authority makes its own regulations.

The men questioned in the survey voted almost 65 per cent in favour of later hours, while only 55 per cent of the women questioned were in favour.

The public especially wants grocery stores to remain open later in the evening. Their preference for late opening for other shops is as follows: clothing stores, supermarkets, greengrocers (fruit and vegetables), butchers, fish and poultry shops.

The most favoured closing hour is 8 p.m., with 33 per cent requesting that shops remain open till that hour. A substantial group, 23 per cent, actually want 9 p.m. closing. Thursday was selected as the most suitable day for late hours, with Monday a runner-up in this respect.

Seventy per cent of those polled agreed that shops close for a half day once a week as compensation for the late closing. The public expressed no particular preference as to which day would be the early closing one. At present the most favoured day for closing is Tuesday.

The only "professionals" involved in the production are Director Ora Lichtenstein and Choreographer Rona Steinfeld, though certainly the standards of the school's string and percussion band and costumes designed and made by Eve Misrach are close to professional.

Eminently suited to a school drama group, since the majority of cters are in fact teenagers, last week's preview performance was a fast-moving and polished one. Recommended for an enjoyable evening of light entertainment, especially if you are in the neighbourhood.

Wrong to blame immigrants are expected from South America for Israel's ills, Katz says By SARAH HONIG

TEL AVIV. - New immigrants should not be made scapegoats for this country's social lifs, Dr. Yisrael Katz, Director-General of the National Insurance Institute, said here yesterday, Dr. Katz was speaking at the national convention of the Association for Public Welfare in Israel which opened at Beit Harofe. The main theme of the conference is poverty in Israel. Dr. Katz argued that anyone who claims that a clash exists between the needs of immigrants and the poor "is conjuring up an artificial confrontation and distorting the true social situation in the country." Poverty, he noted, also existed the mid-sixties, when immigration came to a virtual standstill. "The root of the problem is not for the "Most Preferred Product, carries weight. 1972" were recently distributed to dozens of manufacturere and businesses who won the popularity awards in a scientific poll conducted by the Applied Social Research Institute of Jerusalem.

Prizes awarded for 17th year

This is the 17th successive year that the poil has been conducted by "Yediot Ahronot" in cooperation with its originator, edvertising ex-pert Mr. Ze'ev Sacher. The certificates were distributed by Mayor Yehoshus, Rabinowitz.

In his address, the Mayor said: This is the third time that I have had the pleasure of taking part in this ceremony. All of us are awate of the great changes taking place in our economy, and our rising standard of Eving. Increasing ex-ports force us to become ever more efficient and to maintain and raise existing stendards of production.
The same applies to our service industries. Design and packaging are factors of ever-increasing impor-

It is in this respect that the "Most Preferred Product" polltakes its important place in gauging conits important place in gauging con-sumer acceptance on the one hand, and stimulating self-criticism and greater efforts by manufacturers on the other hand, the Mayor said. "Yediot Ahronot" editor Noah Moses said that, at last year's ceremony, he had promised that within a year his paper would be operat-ing new printing equipment. He was glad, he said, that now he could tell the assembled that the new machinery was aiready in operation. He added that daily circulation was about 160,000 and that the Friday edition reaches about 230,000.

Mr. Sacher pointed out that the poll's increasing popularity among the business community is evidence of the growing attention which manufacturers pay to public opinion.
Mr. Uzi Pelled, director of the Institute for Applied Social Research in Jerusalem, said that the "Most Preferred Product" poli nomic life, since it puts findings on a scientific footing. He related that 120 interviewers employed by the institute interviewed 1,550 persons, who constituted a repre-

Prof. Guiman was recently numbered by the bulletin of the American Scientific Association among one of the 62 most important scientists ever in the world. Among others in this list were Freud, Pavlov and Rohrschach.

Prof. Gutman is today scientific director of the Institute and professor of sociology and psychology at the Hebrew University.

The importance of applied social research in Israel was recognized by the Government in 1956, when it granted the Institute official status as a non-profit scientific institution, whose aim, among other things, is to execute research projects and surveys for private chlents and public institutions both in Israel and abroad, and to raise the level of social research in Estael.

DEVELOPMENT OF THE INSTITUTE

The Institute has developed steadily over the years. It won international esteem for its scientific contributions and its services. Today the Institute employs about 80 regular workers, most of them scientists, and 350 interviewers throughout the country. The Institute uses its own electronic computer to analyze the research data. In 1971 the Institute carried out 74 projects, most of them ordered by clients, and the others initiated by the Institute's scientists and financed by various research funds. The Institute is now

SADAT FLIES TO SAUDIA

Egyptian President Anwar Sadat visited Saudia Arabian Red Sea port of Jeddah yesterday for talks with King Feisal on consolidating potential joint Arab action on the Middle East front. Mr. Sadat will fly to Kuwait today for similar talks with the ruler of the off-rich state, Sheikh Sabah es-Salem es-Sabah,

Mr. Sadat was thought to be trying to apply pressure on the U.S. through these two oil states. The Egyptian President is acheduled to return home tomorrow for s week-end summit meeting with his partners in the tripartite federation, Syria's Hafez al-Assad and Libya's Mu'ammer Gaddafi. Fatah chief Yasser Arafat, who arrived in Cairo Tuesday, is expected to at-

Some members of the parliament reasserted that the Israeli forces had not completely withdrawn and that they were still maintaining police positions and patrols in southeastern Lebanon. Other parliamen-tarians were said to have complained that Lebanon was left alone in the confrontation with Israel while other Arab governments were delivering speeches of support.

Preliminary reports on the debate said that in his reply Premier Sa'eb Salam rejected demands to rescind the accord with the saboteurs while adding that "the aggression on Lebenon will continue as long as Israel and the Zionist entity exist." Meanwhile, in Beirut President Bulelman Franch yesterday received a cheque for $1m, contributed by King Faisal of Saudi Arabia to help victims of last month's Israeli attack on southern Lebanon.

It took eight years to extract from Brussels the not entirely satisfactory preferential trade agreement with the E.E.C. Political objections were an obstacle, the Dutch in particular refusing to concede morê so long as the Franco regime restricted basic freedoms in Spain.

Technocrats in office

Yet as the Madrid E.E.C. negotiations dragged on in Brussels, there had been some slight easing of authoritarian rule in Spain with hint of more to come. In October, 1969, Franco reshuffled his government, ruthlessly down-graded the Falangist Old Guard, brought into the cabinet a new team of prossive-minded (in the Spanish cotext) "pro-Europe" technocrats.

Another concession made with an eye to impressing democratic Europe was a warning to Leon Degrelle, the Nazi collaborator wanted out of sight. When West Germany's foreign Minister Walter Scheel visited Madrid officially early in 1970, four prominent leaders of the Spanish democratic opposition were permitted to call on him at the German Embasssy. This was an unpreceden-

Harsher laws

For example: the limited political "opening" provided for in the constitution of 1967 has been stopped cold. A harshly revamped public order law permits the imprisonment of persons for three months without charge or trial. Democratic opposition leaders have been warned, under pain of heavy fines or imprisonment not to contact visiting statesmen, as they were permitted to do when Scheel was here. A mildly liberal newspaper, "Madrid," has been sup-pressed. Publisher Rafael Calvo Serer, now in self-imposed exile in Paris, is wanted for trial for having expressed in a French newspaper opinions critical of the regime at Last November, French Foreign Minister Maurice Schumann came to Madrid and reported after a visit with the Generalissimo:"Franco has made a profession of faith as a European.

Citrus loading go-slow now in its sixth week

By VA'ACOV FRIEDLER Jerusalem Post Reporter '

- The anti-income tax go-slow by the port's 250 citrus fruit-loading stevedores is now in its sixth week, with no solution the dispute in sight.

The authorities have firmly rejected the men's claims for lower tax or no taxes on the high premiums they achieve and the men are unwilling to "work harder for no-thing." They are at present working at about 80 per cent of their ca-pacity, and because of the high taxa-tion are earning virtually the same net wages they would get if they worked full out.

goes, imports and exports, in addition to heavy grain shipments. The general cargo turnover was 11 per cent higher than the 900,000 tons handled during the same period last year, despite the various sanctions that disrupted operations this season.

He credited the rise mainly to the port's increased productivity, which in January was five per cent higher than during December and 21 per cent over the January 1971 productivity index. The greater use of containerized cargo shipment had also contributed a small part to the bigger turnover, he said.

U.S. travel agents due

Jerusalem Post Economic Reporter The Board of Directors of the American Association of Travel Agents (ASTA) are due today for the second part of a conference which started in Beirut on Sunday. The 25 members of the Board and their wives had originally planned to cross into Israel via the Rosh Hanikra border post, but, told in Beirut that the border situation was tense, they decided to come via Cyprus.

ASTA represents 8,000 travel agents in North America, and is considered most powerful organiza tion of travel agents in the world. The decision to hold part of their conference in Israel is considered as recognition of the rising place of Israel in world tourism.

The importance of the visit of the heads of ASTA was underlined by a survey carried out in the U.S. recently by the Louis Harris company. The survey found that the bulk of the travel agents in the U.S., excepting the east coast, are still not familiar with "the advantages of Israel as a tourist destina-

THE JERUSALEM POST WASTING Taipeh woos Peking's Communist foes

TAIPEH (ANS). Chinese Foreign Minister S.K. Chow told a Kuomintang Council meeting on Tuesday that his government might try to set up diplomatic rela-tions with "Communist states which are not Peking fellow travellers." The statement came after last week's announcement from Taipeh that the Government is considering trade with some East European countries

Taiwan has developed two-way trading with more than 120 countries. More than half of these do not have diplomatic relations with the Nationalists. But none of the countries is Communist.

The vice-chairman of the council for international economic coopera-tion, Mr. Walter Fei, left on Monday on a two-week exploratory visit to Europe. His main mission is to sound out the Eastern European Communists on the possibility trade, notably in countries like Po-land, Czechoslovakia, East Germany. all of which follow the Moscow line against Peking in the Communist ideological struggle.

The nationalist Chinese have considerably softened their hardline poliev on trade with countries, whether Communist or having ties and doing business with Communist countries.

By establishing trade relations with these countries, Taipeh hopes drive a wedge between Communist countries and Peking. The nationalist Chinese also hope to use trade ties as a first step towards dip-lomatic and other ties with these

Dutch claim of descent from 'Lost Tribe'

By HENRIETTA BOAS Jerusalem Post Correspondent

In The Hague, the foremost seat of occult and mystical societies in the Netherlands, a "Zebulun Society" has come into being. Following the ideas of the British Israel Movement, which believes that the Ten Lost Tribes settled in Great Britain and that the British are their descendants, the Zebulun followers believe that one of the tribes, that of Zebulun, settled in Holland, — and that the Dutch are its descendants.

The society's main driving force is Mrs. Helene Koppejan, who sponsored the marketing of a colour film, "Strange Parallels," which had its premiere on January 23.

The film, made by an English team, shows many parallels between Biblical prophecies regarding Zebu-lun and life in Holland, intended to prove that the Dutch are the de-scendants of Zebulun. The main part who now lives in the United States.

Other information on the Zebulun Society's claims can by obtained from Oreal Israel Press, Nieboerweg 216, The Hague.

Your Captain wishes you a pleasant flight to London.

To most people, a BEA Captain is a friendly voice over the aircraft address system.

But there's a few things your Captain has to do before he speaks to you. Let's take them in order.

First, he has to spend two years at flying school, followed by six months at the BEA Training School, where he 'flies' 80 hours on the Flight Simulator. Then he begins service - as a Second Officer. About four years later, he'll be a First Officer.

Nine or ten years after that - if he's really good, and we don't make it easy - he can become a BEA Captain.

Before each take-off from Lod to London, he has a 30-minute briefing and passes it on to his crew. He's responsible for exhaustive checks of the plane and personnel - 164 dials in the Trident cockpit

Only then can your Captain say: 'Ladies and Gentlemen, this is your Captain, wishing you all a very pleasant flight'.

THREE playful Purcell pieces I one haughty Handel duet, and a delectable Dvorak provided the ingredients for a lunch-time concert of charm, beauty and pleasure. The two sopranos blended their voices very neatly, the different timbres and temperaments of the singers adding some necessary contrast. Yonathan Zak at the piano was as usual the perfect guide and companion, firmly but unobtrusively directing the presentation; his piano playing is an undiluted pleasure.

The 13 songs in the "Moravian Duets" are an example of the vast, untapped reservoir of splendid vocal music written by a number of fine composers, which for some reasons are not performed any more.

Though the songs were written for soprano and contraito, Cilla Grossmayer's mellow, somewhat darker soprano coped with the required lower register without dif-ficulty. ### Grenade on the way to the well

The Supreme Court dismissed an peal against a judgment of the leasts District Court delivered on march 15, 1971 (in C.C. 30/69).

The appellants live in an Arab lage which is next to an army aining area. Despite the fact that e training area was declared closdy, the villagers are in the habit watering their flocks at a spring the middle of it.

While leading their flocks to the Searing one day, the appellants, niths of 17 and 14, found a live enade in the area. They played

Widow found slain in ... Holon flat

TEL AVIV. -- A 65-year-old widow, Erna Sczakli, was found murdered in her flat at 38 Rehov Yerushalayim, in Holon, Tuesday night. Mrs. Sczakli's body was found by her son Yehuda, a seaman who lives in Ash-kelon. Yehuda, who supported his mother, would visit her twice a week. On Tuesday night there was no reply when he kocked at the door. He opened the door with his own key and found his mother sprawled on the floor, dead, with an electric wire wound around her neck, and wounds on her Police said they found no evidence of forcible entry to the flat, and it was possible the killer was a person known to Mrs. Sczakli, who had been admitted by her. Another possibility, police said, was that the killer entered with a pass key and had been surprised by the woman. He then presumably killed her when she put up a struggle. According to Yehuda, his mother's watch and a piece of jewellery are missing.

The investigators say there is a possibility the murder took place before dawn Tuesday, since that morning's issue of "Uj Kelet," the Hungarian-language daily to which Mrs. Sczakli subscribed, was still in the mallbox.

Several persons have been questioned, but police reported they have made no arrests.

But their policy had proved bankrupt and filusory.

The Arab campaign to isolate this country internationally had won only marginal and perhaps ephemeral successes, Mr. Eban said, Israel had guaranteed its military, economic commercial strength, without being affected by pressures from international bodies, and was in a firmer position today than in 1967. Egypt and the other Arab states are gnawed by internal confusion and doubts. The Minister believed that pressures could lead to decisions. They perhaps realized that the great power influ in the region might be neutralizing each other because the powers hrank from a confrontation.

Arab reverses since 1967 had not made them more extremist, as some gloomy prophets had predicted, Mr. Eban said, nor had the voices of realism been weakened. In some Arab capitals, the lucid voice of common sense could be heard alongside the harsh rhetoric of war, the academic year in June.
